

About Us

We are a leading company in the manufacture of trailed spreaders, and we have 50 years of experience in the manufacture of agricultural machinery.

A continuous update in the design of our machines has allowed us to achieve a high technological level and offer solid arguments that support the image of quality and competitiveness for which we are widely known.

Our product range is very varied and we can provide solutions for all types of applications, from specific machines for small plots and difficult to work, to more complex products for large areas that require a uniform application, quickly and easily.

Additionally, our long experience in the manufacture of spreaders allows us to also offer related products, such as machines adapted to spread salt on public roads.
